Topic Analyst® Ecosystem

The Topic Analyst Ecosystem ensures a 360-degree overview of your information landscape and supports a full information analysis cycle. Use it on your desktop, mobile or integrated into SharePoint and Office. It enables continuous information collection, processing, monitoring and collaboration. CORPUS, the backbone of the ecosystem, understands information, extracts facts and finds hidden relations.

Topic Analyst is the face to the user that turns information into insights. Spend more time on strategic decisions while others still search.

Collect Information

CORPUS continuously collects information in real time from various sources like websites, social media, enterprise software, databases or even printed documents. It grows with your data and keeps an eye on the complete information landscape to discover what is important.

Extract Facts and Find Relations

CORPUS understands information and uses world knowledge to extract facts, discover their meaning and find hidden relations – because Apple is not always an apple. Forget about spending time on picking the right keywords and writing complex queries to get the right answers. While CORPUS does the job, you focus on what is important – insights and decisions.

Define Your Key Intelligence Topics (KIT)

Define your KITs with Supervised Topics. Add and weight the key aspects that describe your interests semantically. Visualize your results by creating multiple analytical dashboards. Topic Analyst will minimize the risk to miss important information, maximize the quality of search results and point out new, even unexpected facts.

Monitor, Analyze and Get Insights

Use your dashboards for a continuous market overview. Identify topics, evaluate trends and sentiments. Dive deeper with the multi-level drilldown into the details down to the original relevant sources. Analyze and compare facts using interactive and rich visualizations. Get all this done with just a few clicks.

Share and Collaborate

Found anything important? Tag it, add comments or share it via e-mail with your team members. Export your dashboards and documents for your reports. Integrate Topic Analyst into your enterprise systems to spread your insights and provide all your colleagues with easy-to-use self-service dashboards.
